

BIODIVERSITY

Biological diversity (biodiversity) describes the full range of living things. It is the variety and number of species and organisms, the genetic variety within a species and the ways in which they interact with each other in communities and ecosystems.