

BUILDING CONVEYANCING

When a property is offered for sale it is usual for the seller to engage a building conveyancing solicitor to ensure proper legal processes are followed. The purchaser will also obtain the services of a building conveyancing solicitor to search records held by various government bodies to ensure there are no restrictions to the sale. Strictly speaking, it is the land being conveyed, not the building.