

Burrawong, just outside Cumnock, is probably the only surviving mansion in the district. The property was the centre of social activities in the early 1900s.